

Thursday, April 23, 2015 - Homosexuality in OUR Schools

Last Friday (April 17) was called a “Day of Silence” in thousands of America’s middle schools, high schools, and colleges, where countless students took a vow of silence in a show of solidarity with gay rights. How did we get to this point?

In an excerpt from a book that every parent should own, “Failure: What Christian Parents Need to Know About American Education,” we find an explanation to this disturbing event.
