

Thursday, September 15, 2016 - The Danger is Real

School should be one of the safest places we send our children. Unfortunately, we embellish the idea that our children are learning the "things to be successful" in life when the truth lies more in the fact they are being taught the things which can and will kill the soul.

What is the answer? Some Christian parents can't afford to stay home and train their children in the secular curriculum which the Department of Education requires. To me, the two most important things a parent can do is, 1) acknowledge the fact our children are in Spiritual danger in the school systems of our world and 2) be involved in their schooling whether it lies in the arena of secular or Spiritual training.

For those who may think I exaggerate the danger, please take a few moments and read Eric Lyons column at Apologetics Press.
